

INFORMATION FOR TOUR OPERATORS / TRAVEL AGENTS / TOUR GUIDES

To make your stay as good as possible, it is important that you and your tour group take note of the following information.

The Ahrntal Valley holiday region is working hard to make the area as sustainable as possible for the next generations to enjoy. That is why we ask visitors to take care of the nature and landscape, culture and traditions as well as taking the different conditions in our region into account.

We would like to share some important tips with you in this document.

- ◆ Part of the Ahrntal Valley is located within the Rieserferner-Ahrn Nature Park. Please inform yourself about this protected area and about any restrictions to access and activities that can be undertaken there. Information about this is available here: → Rieserferner-Ahrn Nature Park
- ◆ The Ahrntal Valley is characterised by its landscape and nature. Please respect the flora and fauna. Information on this can be found here: → Conduct in sensitive natural environments
- ◆ Culture and tradition are cultivated and fostered in the Ahrntal Valley. To help preserve it, please respect cultural artefacts and the customs of the Ahrntal. Do not damage, remove or destroy historic sites or monuments or any artefacts associated with them. → Interacting with cultural assets
- ◆ Please follow the respective house rules and/or information signs concerning the correct behaviour at cultural sites.

- ◆ At cultural events it is important to us to create a respectful, safe and inviting environment and positive experiences. We ask that you support us in this endeavour and abide by the event rules as well as following the instructions of staff.
- ◆ Water is extremely important in the Ahrntal Valley. Avoid excessive use, wastage and polluting of water and contribute to the global protection of water resources.
- ◆ Caring for our towns and villages and the landscape is especially important to us. Avoid making a mess in public places and ensure that waste is only disposed of in the correct receptacles. Do not leave any waste in your surroundings.
- ◆ Wherever possible use public transport.
- ◆ If you wish to enjoy an active holiday in our region (hiking, cycling, skiing, snowshoeing etc.) take note of the weather forecast, and the avalanche report too in winter, as well as the guidelines on how to behave in the mountains. Information on this can also be found on our website. → Proper conduct in the mountains

Please respect the mountains, nature, flora and fauna and the people of our region.

We wish you a pleasant stay and are available to help at any time should you have any questions.
